

Mr. Powell and company,

I am concerned over the issue of broadcast ownership. I feel that the current laws are not strict enough on preventing monopolies over the media of radio and television. Therefore I am opposed to making these laws even less strict, as seems to be the current plan. There is no reason that broadcasting ownership should be treated differently than other kinds of company ownership when it comes to anti-trust laws. Monopolies in the field of broadcasting are dangerous to the health of free speech in this country, because they allow a few select people to control the information being spread by the popular media. Please hold a thorough public debate on the topic, so that the American people understand the issue completely and can give their opinion on it. Thank you.
